

As an American Muslim and as a person who stands up for justice and fairness, I urge you not to restrict the immigration of religious workers to the United States. Not all religious workers go through "seminary-type training," and a religious worker could not go through any formal training but even be more beneficial to his/her community than a religious worker with years of formal training.

Thank you.